

She found some grains of corn.

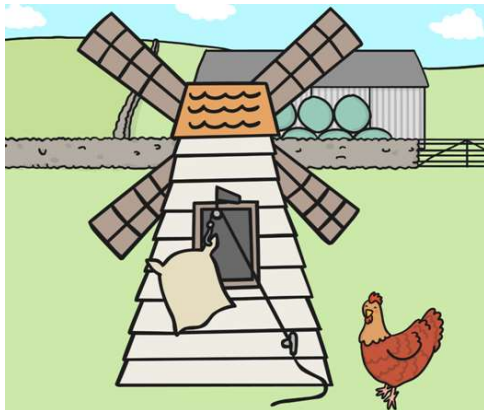

She asked her friends to help her plant the corn.

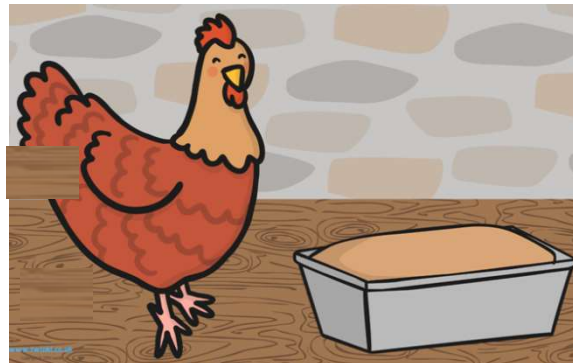

The Little Red Hen had to plant all the corn herself.

She took the corn to the mill.

She made the flour into bread.

She ate it all by herself because her friends did not help her.

